

Personal Profile

Ray Jiang, New Zealand PGA member

Languages

Mandarin, Cantonese, English

Coaching Approach

Ray Jiang is a highly skilled and experienced PGA Golf Coach who caters to a wide range of golfers. With fluency in Mandarin, Cantonese, and English, Ray can effectively communicate and connect with golfers from different backgrounds and ensure a clear understanding of his instructions.

Training Tools Used

Ray Jiang utilizes advanced training tools such as the GC Quad and Pressure Plate to enhance his coaching sessions. The GC Quad is a cutting-edge launch monitor that provides accurate and detailed data about the golfer's swing, including clubhead speed, ball speed, launch angle, spin rate, and more. This information allows Ray to analyse and optimize the golfer's technique.

The Pressure Plate is another valuable tool used by Ray. It measures the distribution of pressure and forces exerted by the golfer's feet during the swing. This data helps Ray assess balance, weight transfer, and overall stability, enabling him to provide targeted feedback for improvement.

Last but not least, I use and promote the Gravity Fit Exercise model and tools as it accelerates my golfers skill acquisition and ability to create/maintain movement patterns. Science based and beneficial for my new and elite golf players. Many of my clients have purchased their own to use within their self practice sessions. This combined with my above GC Quad and Pressure Plate Technology makes for a powerful package of tools to assist my clients.

Coaching Method

Ray Jiang believes in a personalized approach to coaching, understanding that each golfer has unique strengths, weaknesses, and learning styles. He tailors his coaching methods to suit the individual needs and goals of his students.

Ray's coaching sessions typically involve a combination of technical instruction, skill development exercises, on-course play, and mental game strategies. By addressing all aspects of the game, he helps golfers develop a well-rounded skill set and gain confidence in their abilities.

Whether a golfer is a beginner looking to establish a solid foundation or an experienced player seeking to fine-tune their skills, Ray Jiang provides comprehensive coaching that focuses on technique, consistency, course management, and mental resilience.

With his expertise, language skills, and the utilization of advanced training tools, Ray Jiang strives to help golfers reach their full potential and enjoy the game to the fullest.